Dear Friends,

YIVO has embarked on an ambitious 5-Year Plan to strengthen infrastructure, expand our activities within the local tri-state area, and develop new educational initiatives. We are also thrilled to announce that we have commenced the largest archival digitization project in YIVO’s history, the digitization of YIVO’s Jewish Labor and Political Archive, consisting of approximately 3.5 million pages (see PAGE 10 for more details about this epic project). A major gift from the Seedlings Foundation (see PAGE 14) has enabled us to begin digitizing a significant portion of YIVO’s Holocaust archive of 7-million primary source, original documents. This is the largest such collection of Holocaust materials in the world outside of Yad Vashem. These materials include immigration records, ghetto and concentration camp materials, contemporaneous eye-witness accounts, memoirs, diaries, letters, poetry, songs, and much more. As of this writing, 700,000 newly digitized documents from the Holocaust archive have already been placed online for researchers, scholars, and a global public. The Seedlings Foundation grant will also enable the creation of a YIVO Learning and Media Center that will be designed with state-of-the-art technology to introduce students of all ages as well the general public to a wide variety of subjects pertaining to East European and Russian Jewish life and culture. We are most grateful for the support of the Seedlings Foundation and the continuing and growing support of the YIVO community. This support has enabled us to thrive and take the organization to the next level, fulfilling our age-old mission in the most contemporary and dynamic way. Thank you for being part of this exciting journey with us.

PHILO-SEMITIC VIOLENCE: POLAND’S JEWISH PAST IN NEW POLISH NARRATIVES
Elżbieta Janicka and Tomasz Żukowski examine how patterns of exclusion and violence are reproduced when antisemitism is not openly problematized, reassessed, and rejected in light of its consequences and the basic principle of equal rights.
This series of programs presents a new Polish school of research into the Holocaust and antisemitism informed by critical theory and cultural critique. Initiated by Jan Tomasz Gross’ book, Neighbors (2000), this new school proposes a new frame of analysis of the Polish responsibility for the destruction of Polish Jewry. It revisits the endeavor of khurbn forshung conducted in Poland by Holocaust survivor scholars. First impeded then destroyed by Polish bottom-up and top-down antisemitism, this post-war effort reappears as a reference point and an object of critical analysis as well.

Research into the material facts and cultural representations (imagery, narratives, ideas) of mainstream Polish Holocaust discourse reveals how much the facts were produced by the representations and stemmed from sources that have been neither deconstructed nor deactivated. A meticulous reconstruction of the historical process, its mechanisms and stakes, causes and effects, allows for a more complete grounding of Jewish social and cultural history. Providing context to the events of the Holocaust in Poland and situating them within a sociocultural continuum – between their eve and aftermath – also enables a sharper understanding of present-day patterns of distortion and propaganda that seek to suppress the results of historical research and through this effort to deny the Polish realities of the Holocaust.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

THE YIVO SOUND ARCHIVE AT 40: A CELEBRATION

SEPTEMBER 13 The YIVO Sound Archive houses over 20,000 recordings (including 78, 45, and 33rpm discs, open-reel and cassette tapes, piano rolls, and compact discs and other digital formats) as well as various artifacts related to sound recordings. One of the most extensive and frequently consulted Jewish music collections in the world, it embraces Yiddish and Hebrew folk, popular and theater music, Holocaust songs, liturgical, choral and instrumental compositions and, of course, klezmer music, as well as spoken word, oral histories, interviews, and radio programs. In addition to serving researchers, the Sound Archive maintains a special link to the Yiddish cultural world, and has close relationships with many musicians who utilize its resources in creating their art. It serves anyone seeking to include Yiddish music in their life or work, including teachers, journalists, camp counselors, and radio producers, among others. To celebrate the 40th anniversary of the Sound Archive’s founding, YIVO hosted a fascinating insider discussion of its history, collections, projects, and other stories. Moderated by Hankus Netsky, this event brought together the founder of YIVO’s Sound Archive, Henry Sapoznik, current YIVO Sound Archivists Lorin Sklamberg and Éléonore Biezunski, and former YIVO Sound Archivist Jenny Romaine. Co-sponsored by the Klezmer Institute.

HIDDEN HERETICS: JEWISH DOUBT IN THE DIGITAL AGE

SEPTEMBER 22 Scholar Ayala Fader, in conversation with Josh Lambert, professor and director of the Jewish Studies Program at Wellesley College, discussed the fascinating, often heart-wrenching stories of married ultra-Orthodox Jewish men and women in twenty-first-century New York who lead “double lives” in order to protect those they love. Drawing on five years of fieldwork with those living double lives and the rabbis, life coaches, and religious therapists who minister to, advise, and sometimes excommunicate them, Fader investigated religious doubt and social change in the digital age. In following those living double lives, who range from the religiously observant but open-minded on one end to atheists on the other, Fader delved into universal quandaries of faith and skepticism, the ways digital media can change us, and family frictions that arise when a person radically transforms who they are and what they believe.

HOW TO DO RESEARCH AT YIVO

MARCH 14, SEPTEMBER 29, AND OCTOBER 31 YIVO’s collections represent the single largest and most comprehensive collection of materials on Eastern European Jewish civilization in the world. With some 24 million items in the YIVO Archives and nearly 400,000 volumes in all European languages in YIVO’s Library, the possibilities for research are endless. Thousands of people perform research in the Archives and Library each year, yet given the size and complexity of the collections, research can be intimidating for newcomers and provide unique challenges for even the most experienced researchers. With this in mind, YIVO launched the “How to Do Research at YIVO” series, in which YIVO archivist Hallel Yadin provided overviews and how-to guides to introduce newcomers to the collections and help researchers navigate the collections more easily. Sessions have touched on topics like how to use YIVO’s databases effectively, how an archive differs from a library, what key terminologies associated with archives and libraries are useful to know, and how to access YIVO’s digitized holdings.
EDUCATION

WINTER PROGRAM AND WINTER YIDDISH

Held annually since 2012, the YIVO-Bard Winter Program on Ashkenazi Civilization delved into the literature, history, and culture of East European Jewry with a diverse lineup of international instructors – Jonathan Brent, Maya Benton, Maya Balakirsky Katz, Jeffrey Herf, Elżbieta Janicka, Dovid Katz, TonyMichels, Anita Norich, Ilan Stavans, and Marek Tuszewicki. During the program, participants engaged with the Ashkenazi experience in courses rarely found outside the university setting.

In the keynote event, “Legitimizing Genocide: Science, Scholarship and the Complicity of the Academy,” Alan Steinweis and Jonathan Brent explored how antisemitic discourse operated in Nazi Germany to legitimize antisemitic policy. Steinweis and Brent examined how understanding this history can be used to understand antisemitism in other historical contexts, including the contemporary U.S.

YIVO also ran a series of winter Yiddish seminars taught by Eve Jochnowitz, Josh Price, Vera Szabó, and Perl Teitelbaum. These seminars covered topics such as literature, children’s music, and cooking. 280+ students participated in the Winter Program and winter Yiddish seminars.

THE RECORDS OF LINKE FLIGL

The YIVO Archives is pleased to announce that we are in the process of accessioning the records of Linke Fligl. Linke Fligl was a queer Jewish chicken farm and cultural organizing project based in Millerton, NY. It was founded in 2016 and was sunset in 2022. You can learn more about Linke Fligl’s story here: linkefligl.com/our-story.

The collection is rich with records, correspondence, art, and objects, including a first for the YIVO Archives: an egg, the very first one ever laid on the farm. It also includes materials from other organizations doing complementary work, including Hazon, Jews for Racial and Economic Justice, and Isabella Freedman Jewish Retreat Center, among others. The materials, all told, provide an invaluable view into the collaboration and labor involved in sustaining Linke Fligl for the time it was in operation.

The Linke Fligl papers will be of interest to anyone interested in leftist/radical politics; cultural organizing; diasporism; queer, rural life; and farming and agriculture movements through a Jewish lens. We are processing the collection in collaboration with Linke Fligl and look forward to making the collection available to the public.
YIVO ANNOUNCES MAJOR PROJECT TO DIGITIZE ITS HISTORIC JEWISH LABOR AND POLITICAL ARCHIVE

YIVO is delighted to announce the digitization of its Jewish Labor and Political Archive. This eight-year project will conserve, process, digitize, and make available online free-of-charge its collections documenting Jewish political, labor, and social movements in the United States and Europe from 1870 to 1992.

The project, the largest archival digitization project in YIVO’s history consists of approximately 3.5 million pages. The archive includes correspondence of major Jewish political and labor leaders including Vladimir Kossovskii, Raphael Abromovitch, Emanuel Scherer, Shmuel Arthur Zygielbaum, Morris Hillquit, Emma Goldman, and David Dubinsky; meeting minutes of clandestine revolutionary cells active in Europe from the late 1800s through World War II; ledger books detailing the activities of youth groups; manuscripts of speeches and lectures delivered by anarchists and revolutionaries; leaflets and flyers calling for protests and boycotts; posters advertising rallies and marches; sound recordings of members of the labor movement in the United States; and ephemera including flags, banners, and pins.

The Jewish Labor and Political Archive at YIVO is the most comprehensive resource on Jewish revolutionary, socialist, and labor movements in Europe and America. Many of the materials were originally collected by the Bund Archives, which was founded in 1899 in Geneva, Switzerland, to gather the organizational records and revolutionary literature published in the underground printing shops of the then-nascent Jewish Labor Bund.

The result of an impoverished Jewish working class in the Russian empire and the spread of secular ideas, the Bund was founded in Vilna in October 1897. It functioned as a kind of labor union and political party whose membership consisted of Jewish workers, intellectuals, and youth who fought against the oppressive forces of the Tsarist regime, the capitalist order, and the hierarchical Jewish community.

The Bund founded sports organizations, summer camps, Yiddish secular schools, and sanatoriums throughout Lithuania, Poland, Russia, the United States, and other countries across the world.

In the 1930s, the Bund stood at the forefront of the struggle against antisemitism in Poland by announcing a general strike in response to waves of anti-Jewish violence and pogroms. During World War II, the Bund organized underground resistance efforts and created a network of informants who brought news of Nazi atrocities to the world.

In 1944, the Bund Archives was captured by the Nazis. After the liberation of Paris in 1945, a large portion of the collection was found in crates abandoned several miles from the city. In 1951, the Bund Archives was brought to New York where it continued its collecting operations until 1992, when the entire Bund Archives was transferred to YIVO. The materials documenting the activities of the Bund help illustrate how the transnational activities of the Jewish working class were instrumental in the international labor movement.

“In addition to providing fascinating material about Jewish political activity in pre-Revolutionary Russia and interwar Europe, these collections reveal the impact of an important aspect of the Jewish immigrant community on American politics and social life and deepen our understanding of the American Jewish experience,” said Jonathan Brent, Executive Director and CEO at YIVO.

The Jewish Labor and Political Archive at YIVO have been used in hundreds of scholarly publications, multi-day academic conferences, college courses, and museum exhibitions. YIVO has held several adult education classes that draw directly from these collections and has hosted over a dozen free public lectures by scholars on the research they conducted using the collections.

There are many possibilities for new scholarship, classes, public programs, exhibitions, archival outreach, and artistic and literary works that draw on the Jewish Labor and Political Archive at YIVO.
The significance of this undertaking for researchers around the world cannot be overstated...YIVO’s digitization project will make the rich history of the Bund, which includes everything from labor protest to Yiddish-language education to anti-Nazi resistance, widely and freely available for the first time.

I consider YIVO’s digitization project to be the most important archival project of its kind in the United States presently.

The Bund Archives is exceptionally important...

Over the course of more than half a century, materials located in the Bund Archives have formed the foundations for groundbreaking books by both world-renowned and emerging scholars.

YIVO AND UNITED NATIONS MOUNT JOINT EXHIBITION

After the End of the World: Displaced Persons and Displaced Persons Camps

YIVO is pleased to announce a new exhibition, After the End of the World: Displaced Persons and Displaced Persons Camps, at the United Nations Headquarters in New York City. The exhibition will run through February 23, 2023.

The exhibit was created by the United Nations Department of Global Communications together with the YIVO Institute for Jewish Research, and the United Nations Archives. Professor Déborah Dwork, Center for the Study of the Holocaust, Genocide, and Crimes Against Humanity at the Graduate Center—CUNY, served as the scholar advisor for the exhibition.

An unprecedented humanitarian crisis unfolded after the Second World War.

The exhibition examines the responses of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration (UNRRA), the first multinational response of its kind, and of Jewish Holocaust survivors in the immediate post-war years.

The exhibition is sourced with artifacts and documents from the archives of YIVO and the United Nations and illuminates the macro history and personal stories of the people living in the camps. Among YIVO’s contributions are posters created by Holocaust survivors in the displaced persons camps that reflect key aspects of their daily life. They include newspapers, announcements for sporting events and political rallies, and lectures presented at the camps. It also includes the toys and ritual and everyday objects created by displaced persons.

Official documentation, including photographs, reports and correspondence from survivors and family members trying desperately to trace one another, are drawn from the United Nations Archives.

The exhibition illuminates how the impact of the Holocaust continued to be felt after the Second World War ended and the courage and resilience of those that survived in their efforts to rebuild their lives despite having lost everything.

The exhibition is on view through February 23, 2023, at the United Nations Headquarters, located at 405 E 42nd St, New York, NY 10017.

Hours: Monday-Friday | 9:00am-5:00pm

Entrance to the United Nations Visitor Centre in New York is free, but there are requirements for all visitors. For more information, visit yivo.org/Displaced-Persons.
YIVO has been awarded a $2.5 million grant from the Seedlings Foundation to support two significant projects: the creation of a YIVO Learning and Media Center (YLMC), and the digitization of an important part of YIVO’s Holocaust collection, the largest collection of Holocaust materials in the world outside of Yad Vashem in Israel.

The YLMC will create a physical space to showcase YIVO’s Archival and Library holdings and develop educational units designed for students that will introduce Jewish history of Eastern Europe and illuminate its worldwide culture, while debunking widespread, popular misconceptions. Visitors will encounter YIVO materials directly as well as through interactive multi-media exhibitions and public programs. The YLMC will be a destination for visiting students and provide lesson kits that draw upon primary sources from YIVO’s archival collections of over twenty-four million documents and objects. Short content videos on select topics of Jewish learning will also be developed.

YIVO’s Holocaust collection will be digitized and made available online to a global public for free. Collections designated for digitization under this grant include records of HIAS, which aided European refugees prior to and post WWII; German Jewish Children’s Aid, which helped unaccompanied and orphaned children emigrating from Europe to the United States before, during, and after the war; YIVO’s Displaced Persons camp collections; the Lodz Ghetto collection; the Berlin Collection, which has records from Nazi agencies; and about 5,000 kentkarten (identity cards) assigned to the Jews by the Nazi regime, all stamped with a ‘J’ for ‘Jude’. Approximately five million pages will be digitized and put online.

YIVO is delighted to announce the additions of Ambassador Meryl Frank (ret) and Ambassador Eric Rubin to its Board of Directors.

A graduate of Rutgers University (BA) and Yale University (MA, MA, and MPH), Frank is an international champion of women’s leadership, human rights, and political participation. Frank served as the Mayor of Highland Park, New Jersey, for ten years. In 2009 President Obama appointed Frank as the US Ambassador to the United Nations Commission on the Status of Women. Frank is currently President of Makeda Global Network, an international consulting firm specializing in leadership and media training, messaging, and strategic planning. In May 2022, President Joe Biden appointed her to the US Holocaust Memorial Museum Council.

“I grew up hearing about YIVO as a descendant of proud emigrants from Vilna. I have spent many hours in its archives sifting through precious artifacts rescued from the Vilna Ghetto, attending classes and lectures. I am honored to be invited to its Board and support its unique and expanding contribution to Jewish culture,” said Meryl.

Ambassador Eric Rubin grew up in Brooklyn and New Rochelle, New York and attended the Sholem Aleichem Folkshule in Yonkers, New York, where he learned Yiddish. He was raised in a home that highly valued secular Jewish culture. Ambassador Rubin joined the Foreign Service in 1985 after graduating from Yale. Rubin was nominated for the post of ambassador by President Obama and was confirmed on December 9, 2015. He was sworn in on January 27, 2016. He was elected to serve as the President of the American Foreign Service Association (AFSA) after his posting as U.S. Ambassador to Bulgaria (2016-2019).

“Joining the YIVO board is a thrilling honor for me,” said Ambassador Rubin. “I am devoted to supporting the preservation and survival of Ashkenazi Jewish culture in Central and Eastern Europe, and to the survival of the Yiddish language as well.”

YIVO RECEIVES $250,000 GRANT FROM THE YASSKY FAMILY, ESTABLISHING YIDDISH VOICES

YIVO is pleased to announce a grant of $250,000 from the Yassky family in memory of Harriet Yassky z”l, a treasured YIVO volunteer. The grant will fund YIVO’s latest initiative, Yiddish Voices, a series of translated literary works that will be curated by Alyssa Quint (Tablet Magazine/ Yeshiva University) and Elissa Bemporad (Queens College/CUNY Graduate Center). The paperback editions will showcase texts (mostly translated from Yiddish) of literary and historical significance and will be published by Bloomsbury Press (UK). YIVO’s Yiddish Voices will launch its first volume, a collection of three Yiddish plays authored by women, later this year with an event that will honor Harriet’s memory. We are grateful to Lester Yassky, Rachel Yassky, Evan Yassky, Andrea Didisheim, David Yassky, and Diana Fortuna for their commitment to this special project.
YIVO received a grant award of $80,000 from the New York State Council on the Arts (NYSCA) to support YIVO’s work in fostering Jewish learning, identity, and community through courses and events inspired by our extensive Archives and Library. These programs bring the past to life and examine the complexity of Jewish identity and culture through a contemporary lens. It will also support YIVO’s dedicated, multi-generational staff, who range from their 20s to their 80s. They represent communities worldwide, with deep knowledge of Jewish history and culture and proficiency in 12 languages.

YIVO has been awarded a grant from the New York City Department of Cultural Affairs’ Cultural Development Fund for $78,260 to support YIVO’s public programs. YIVO was among 1,000+ organizations across New York City that received funding to deliver arts programming that contributes to the city’s extraordinary cultural life. YIVO’s public programs bring a unique depth and exposure to Jewish cultural heritage through vibrant lectures, panel discussions, concerts, and book talks. These programs engage a diverse audience and draw on YIVO’s Archives to look at the past through a contemporary lens. Themes include folksong and classical music, theater, pre-war European Jewish life, politics, immigration, LGBTQI identities, and the Holocaust.

The YIVO Institute for Jewish Research is delighted to announce a grant of $18,000 from the Slomo and Cindy Silvian Foundation, Inc. to help conserve, process, and digitize the Holocaust collections that form part of YIVO’s Jewish Labor and Political Archive. Collected by the Bund Archives, these collections document various aspects of the Holocaust and its aftermath, including Nazi atrocities in extermination camps and ghettos, armed and intellectual acts of Jewish resistance, and the renewal of Jewish life in the immediate post-war period.

YIVO has been awarded a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities’s Division of Preservation and Access for $9,417 to purchase the materials to rehouse YIVO’s historic Jewish Labor and Political Archive, which documents Jewish political, labor, and social movements in the United States and Europe. Consisting of 900 linear feet of materials documenting activities from 1870 to 1992, the grant will allow YIVO archivists to further ensure the preservation of these valuable materials.
